

The Southern Investigative Reporting Foundation used a pseudonym given this individual's experience within Insys's prior authorization unit and their subsequent work with regulators. All statements were corroborated by documents and another individual.